TEAMWORK AND COLLABORATION GUIDE

Contribute effectively to shared goals

Practical guidance • Clear steps • Honest representation

A practical guide to working with teammates, sharing responsibilities and resolving disagreements constructively.

1. Align on the goal

- Clarify the intended outcome, roles, deadlines and definition of done.
- Confirm who owns each task and how progress will be shared.
- Surface dependencies and risks early.

2. Communicate progress

- Share concise updates on completed work, blockers and next steps.
- Ask for help before a blocker becomes a deadline problem.
- Keep shared records in approved tools and protect sensitive information.

3. Handle disagreement

- Separate the issue from the person and focus on evidence and impact.
- Listen to different approaches and identify the decision criteria.
- Escalate respectfully when the team cannot resolve a material risk.

4. Share credit and responsibility

- Recognize contributions fairly and be honest about your own role.
- Offer help when feasible without silently taking on unmanageable work.
- Own mistakes, correct them and share lessons constructively.

5. Improve the process

- After a project, discuss what worked and what should change.
- Turn feedback into specific actions and owners.
- Respect different communication styles while maintaining shared expectations.

Key takeaways

- Clear ownership prevents confusion.
- Raise risks early and respectfully.
- Share credit and take responsibility for your contribution.
