Guide

Use this guide as a planning framework. Requirements differ by institution, programme, country, applicant category, and intake. Keep a record of the official source and the date you checked it.

Verify the programme

- Confirm the exact institution, campus, programme, intake, and recognised status with relevant official authorities.
- Use the current official prospectus and applicable counselling or admission authority fee notice.
- Do not rely solely on agent messages, social media posts, or historical fee lists.

Possible cost components

- Tuition and prescribed institutional fees
- Admission, counselling, security deposit, and examination charges where applicable
- Hostel, mess, transport, books, instruments, uniforms, and other living costs
- Internship-related costs, insurance, or other programme-specific charges where officially applicable

Questions to ask

- Is the quoted fee annual, semester-based, or for the entire course?
- Can fees change in later years? What is the written refund and discontinuation policy?
- Which charges are paid to the institution and which to an authorised authority?

Decision checkpoint

- Verify recognition and current admission rules before paying.
- Keep a written total-cost estimate and contingency budget.
- Treat any advertised amount as unverified until matched to current official documents.
